

Hi Everyone,

The Crayon Collection, the national charity initiative that repurposes millions of crayons every year, needs our help! It's simple, provides crayons to kids in need, helps protect the environment, and it's fun!

Billions of crayons are thrown away each year in the United States. The Crayon Collection asks schools like ours to collect our unwanted crayons and then donate them to a nearby high poverty/Title I school that is in desperate need of supplies. The charity's efforts help to cut down on the $750 per year of personal income the average teacher spends outfitting his or her own underfunded classroom, as well as preventing billions of crayons from ending up in landfills each year.

The charity was listed on the Earth Day Network, the largest environmental campaign in the world, as one of the organizations in their "Billion Acts of Green" campaign. We can help too! Please bring your crayons into school and we can start collecting.

Thank you!

Crayon Collection Team
